

Doyle J Graham Barn

This colorful barn at 641 E. Main Canyon Road in Wallsburg, belongs to Doyle Graham and is a hay barn with a milk shed on one side. It was built by Rolo Hendrickson about 60 years or more ago of red pine. The roof is metal and probably replaced the original roof many years ago. It is interesting that there is snow next to the barn, and yet the grass in front of it is green. Along with the pink color in the milk shed, it is quite colorful.

This colorful barn at 641 El Alun Canyon Road in Wallburg, belongs to Doyle Graham and is a hay barn with a milk shed on one side. It was built by Rolo Henderson about 50 years or more ago of red pine. The roof is metal and probably replaced the original roof many years ago. It is interesting that there is snow next to the barn, and yet the grass in front of it is green. Along with the pink color in the milk shed, it is quite colorful.